A TRIANGULAR UFO dubbed the Dudley Dorito has been seen again in the skies over the Black Country. Quality inspector Munesh Mistry, aged 21, spotted the triangular-shaped object over his home in Andrew Road, Tipton, at around 10.15pm on Sunday. His sighting comes just weeks after a UFO was spotted hovering over Sutton Coldfield on the eve of Bonfire Night.

Mr Mistry, who was with his friend Neil Martin, 21, who lives in nearby Wells Close, said: "Me and my closest friend saw an amazing fast-moving and silent craft in the shape of a triangle made up of what appeared to be three lights fly across the sky at a mind boggling speed."

He and directors of the charitable trust decided to make a wider range of items available for the evening event.

Mr Barnes, from Birmingham, was taken to hospital on June 1 last year and was off work for three days.

Assessed

He has recovered physically, but the court heard that he has since suffered from poor sleep, mood swings and flashbacks which are only now subsiding.

Magistrates also heard it was usual for workers at the firm to climb into the chute, used to feed fridges into the machine for recycling, to clear any blockages.

An investigation by the Health and Safety Executive found the presence of the nitrogen in the chute had not been assessed. The company had also failed to carry out a suitable and sufficient risk assessment which would have identified the risk of climbing into a confined space.

The HSE said the company should have had a system in place for clearing blockages which did not require entry into the chute.

SOUL singer Beverley Knight is engaged to her boyfriend James O'Keefe.

The star, from Wolverhampton, has been with the production technician for the past three years. Love blossomed after the couple met on the set of one of her music videos.

Beverley said the pair were not in a rush to head down the aisle due to her busy schedule, and added. "I wasn't expecting it. What with the new album, our wedding won't be any time next year." The couple added in a statement they were both "thrilled and excited". The 37-year-old, a former pupil at Woodfield Infants and Junior School and at Highfields School, both in Wolverhampton, is performing at the LG Arena in Birmingham next month. Halesowen Area Committee endorsed plans at a meeting despite traders claiming that their profits would be hit. Councillors were told that double yellow lines outside businesses around Shell Corner would wipe out passing trade.

But 11 of 15 proposed schemes were backed by the committee.

Four were deferred so people who had signed petitions objecting to the original plans could submit their views on the revised ones.

Stuart Taylor, owner of the Hair Care hairdressers, Long Lane, said: "We and other businesses constantly have people that need to park where the restrictions will be. If they haven't got that facility then we will lose a lot of trade and that will be to the detriment of Shell Corner."

The names Joseph and Wilfred Griffin were put on the cenotaph at Cinder Bank, Netherton, after the conflict but the pair, originally of Round Street, were among the survivors. How their names were added remains a mystery.

Joseph Griffin's grandson, Kevin Gardner, said his grandfather had not known the reason their names were listed among the town's fallen heroes right up until his death at the age of 85, in 1983.

The family lost touch with his great-nucle's side, but he too is believed to have lived until in his 80s.

Mr Gardner, aged 53, who lives in Abergavenny, south Wales, said he and his family visited the memorial whenever they could. The names Joseph and Wilfred Griffin

"Although the names were added by mistake I am glad they are there," he said. "I hope they remain there as they have done all these years to show their bravery during the conflict."

Mr Gardner added: "As for the reasons the names were put on there, I doubt we will ever know now.

"It is a real mystery. I think it most likely they were separated from their units at some point during a battle.
"They may have joined another squad and the original one believed them to have been killed which is how this happened. We will never know for sure."
Mr Gardner said his grandfather had fought on the Western Front during the 1914-18 war and had been at Yppers and the Somme, having joined up at the age of 16.

er Centre workers June Bowen, Eileen Fielding and trustee of Dudley Hope, Geoff Hil, launch the toy appeal for Christmas

A CHARITY in Dudley is appealing for townsfolk to send them muchneeded cash donations instead of Christmas cards this year.

As part of the Dudley Hope Trust's Operation Santa toy appeal, funds are wanted to buy gifts for disadvantaged borough youngsters.

Each year volunteers flood through the doors of Dudley Volunteer Centre, which helps co-ordinate the Hope Trust appeal, to wrap gifts that they hope will put smiles on the faces of hundreds of borough children. During the time that the busy centre has co-ordinated the appeal, more than 8,000 gifts have been wrapped.

Cheques

This Christmas around 500 children, identified through social services and voluntary and community groups, will be opening presents or enjoying seasonal celebrations and pantomime treats.
Eileen Fielding, of Dudley Volunteer Centre, said: "Operation Santa puts big smiles on the faces of so many local young sters but it would not be possible without year-round fundraising by the Hope Trust.

how a small donation can make a big difference to a child in need."

Mystery Mario artist fresh online twist

HE has perplexed Black Country publicans for more than three decades but the mysterious Mario Lanza fan has now found an army of admirers online.

now found an army of admirers online. Whoever the phantom is he has been leaving beermats with the same drawing of the late opera singer Mario Lanza in pubs and shops since the late 1970s. No-one has ever found out who he is. But he now has 72 admirers on social networking site Facebook and a documentary maker has decided he is worthy of his own film.

Details of the Facebook group dedicated to the fan, who signs his work AJW, emerged as he left six beer mats at the Cleveland Arms pub in Old Stowheath Lane, Willenhall.

Visit

Some of the beermats give a link to the address www.facebook.com where people can find it by searching for Mario Lanza AJW. Landlord Will Adamson, aged 38, said: "We found six of these beermats and went online to look. I then found some of the stories the Express & Star have written about him over the years." Facebook user and English teacher Mike Steven from Wollaston said recent visits by the so-called Ghost have referred to the mystery of cats going missing in the village several years going missing in the value of ago.

His mats now include pictures of cats and refer to Wollaston as the "Bermuda Triangle" because around 50 pets have gone missing from the area.

Mr Stevens, aged 34, who teaches at Hillcrest School in Dulley, said: "We are speculating on whether it's the same man or whether someone has taken up the legacy."

Booze ban outcome is result # of working together for good

T LAST the council have agreed to back Labour's ampaign to ban booze from the streets of Gornal.

the streets of Gornal.

Labour's local candidate Stuart Turner and I launched our campaign to ban drinking alcohol in public last year after residents and businesses in Gornal complained to us about anti-social behaviour, litter and vandalism caused by people drinking in the streets and nearby parks.

We launched a petition calling for a ban that would give the police powers to stop booze being drunk in public and take action against people who refuse to cooperate.

booze being drunk in public and take action against people who refuse to cooperate.

I want to thank local police who backed our campaign straight away. Sadly, the same could not be said for the local Conservative councillors.

The police assembled the evidence and we took our petition to the council. Eventually, the councillors came on board.

Due to the success of our campaign the days of yobs in Gornal taunting the police and refusing to stop drinking are over.

It's another example of what can be achieved when politicians listen to the public and police and we all work together to fight for the changes needed to make our community a better place to live.

It's a shame it's not the same story nationally.

Hands up all those people who voted Tory because they thought it would lead to fewer police on our streets, softer sentences, criminals released early and CCTV schemes scrapped.

Despite all their promises, that's exactly what the Conservatives have done in their first six months.

Some 2,500 police officers are expected to go in the West Midlands alone. Hale-sowen magistrates court is to close. I'm worried council cut-backs will put PCSOs at risk.

And if that wasn't enough, they're scrapping some sentences all together which will mean fewer criminals in jail and more on the streets.

Technology

Under the last government, record spending on law and order meant Britain had more regular police officers than at any point in our history – on top of the new Police Community Support Officers. We brought in new neighbourhood teams and modern technology to cut paperwork and keep bobbies on the beat.

As a result crime fell. More criminals were arrested, caught and convicted. More were sent to prison.

What a week for David Cameron to pick to cut pensions and benefit payments for war widows.
Ordinary people were buying poppies, attending Remembrance services and showing their support for the armed forces, veterans and those who made the ultimate sacrifice for their country.
David Cameron was busy slashing payments for their families.
The Tories have decided that public sector pensions would be linked to the consumer price index (CPI) instead of the retail price index (RPI) Labour used.
That might sound like a technical change, but the RPI has been more generous and the change will cost war widows thousands.

ous and the change will cost war widows thousands.

It means service pensions and the annual Guaranteed Income Payment—introduced by Labour in 2005 to servicemen and women who have been badly injured or to their spouses if they die—will also be cut.

The Forces Pension Society said a corporal who loses both legs in a bomb blast would miss out on about half a million pounds in pension and benefit-related payments.

A 3d veer old wife of a staff serwant ments.

A 34-year-old wife of a staff sergeant killed in Afghanistan would lose almost three quarters of a million pounds over the course of her lifetime.
No wonder Major-General John Moore-Bick, its General Secretary, accused the government of "not looking after their people." He said: "The Prime Minister does people." He said: "The Frime Minister does not understand the Armed Forces. When they talk about the military covenant it is all completely hollow." We all know David Cameron doesn't live in the same world as the rest of us, but surely even he can see these cuts should be Operating department practitions Michelle Jukes, aged 56, took time off work from Wolverhampton's New Cross Hospital in 2006 after being diagnosed with der-matitis which affected her hands.

But she worked two shifts a week at Bushey Fields Hospital, in Dudley, from that time up to April 2008, while claiming sickness payments from New Cross, Wol-

Ms Jukes did not tell her colleagues at New Cross that she was working at Bushey Fields. Her manager at New Cross, Misch Clancy, told the court: "We had to get day staff in to cover the needs, which was an

Ms Jukes, who worked full-time at New Cross and was responsible for putting drips into patients and inserting needles, told the court: "When I saw the director at New Cross, he said that it would be okay for me to work in a non-clinical area. Bushey Fields is very much non-clinical."

Judge Wilkinson told Ms Jukes, of Vale Street, Upper Gornal: "It's unfortunate this prosecution was ever brought. You leave without a blemish on your character."

SKATEBOARDERS are putting lives at risk by using ramps at a busy Black Country multi-storey car park, it is claimed.

claimed.
Youngsters gather on the upper floors of the Bell Street car park, Stourbridge, and hurtle down the ramps.
Calls have now been made for Dudley Council to take action over the problem amid fears a serious accident is "very likely".

Skateboarders are using the ramps during the afternoon and early evening when the car park is busy with workers on their way home. Similar problems have plagued the car park before but chairman of watchdog group Stourbridge Township Council Margaret Scott said they had surfaced again. "The speeds these youngsters come down the ramps is lethal. If one of these skateboarders flew out in front of a moving car there is nothing the driver could do."

Cabinet member for transport on Dudley Council Angus Adams said he was aware of the problem but there were difficulties in constantly monitoring the site.

Those brothers Grimes keep in limelight

Jedward bandwagon keeps rolling LOVE them or hate them, Jedward have stubbornly refused to fulfil the predictions of those who suggested their moment of fame would be brief after they paved the way for Wagner by brief after tirely paved tire way for wagner by being The X Factor act who divided the public. The Irish twins, John and Edwards Grimes, may be famous for being famous – their musical mix of cover versions and bland pop is hardly earth-shattering – but the Planet Jedward bandwagon rolls on to prestigious Birmingham venue the Symphony Hall on Saturday, November 27. The teens with the gravity-defying quiffs sold out their Irish tour and are likely to be facing a big crowd in Brum. I suspect many will have been attracted by the duo's gauche, immawill nave been attracted by the duo's gauche, immature posturing and won over by their sometimes hilarious TV documented misadventures when they cut the apron strings from mom. It can't be the music. . . can it?

The youngsters' recent appearance on Never Mind The Buzzcocks left one wondering how aware they are that the joke's on them but you can bet they're crying all the way to the bank!

Motorhead . . . Lemmy, Mikkey Dee and Phil Campbell

Motorhead drives into town ready to rock

IF one man has come to epitomise rock 'n' roll it is Motorhead singer and bass player Lemmy.

Over the past four decades few other artists have had such an enduring impact on heavy metal music and, with his 65th birth-day approaching on Christmas Eve, Lemmy is rocking harder than ever.

is rocking harder than ever.
His powerhouse trio (also featuring guitarist Phil Campbell and drummer Mikkey Dee) are in concert at Wolverhampton Civic Hall on Wednesday, November 24.
The band's 27th album Motorizer was released two years ago. Their latest album
The World Is Yours is due to be released next month.

Rock fans will also get a chance to see the band he belonged to before Motorhead – space rockers Hawkwind - at the Wulfrun space rockers Hawkwind – at the Wulfrush Hall in Wolverhampton on December 8. It's Lemmy's voice that can be heard on their biggest hit, Silver Machine, though lead vocals are now taken by the group's founder, Dave Brock . Lemmyleft Hawkwind 35 years ago and one of the last songs he wrote for them, Motorhead, provided the name for his own hand name for his own band. He features in a new rockumentary DVD He features in a new rockumentary DVD about his life, with contributions from celebrity fans that range from Ozzy Osbourne to Jarvis Cocker, that will be released in January.

Lemmy is also the star of the new Kronenbourg 1664 TV ad, singing a slowed down acoustic version of Motorhead's best known song, Ace of Spades.

I'm Sorry I Haven't A Clue.
Wolverhampton Grand
A VENERABLE comedy institution came to Wolverhampton on Monday when the crew from Radio 4's 38-year-old spoof panel game I'm Sorry I Haven't A Clue convened at the Grand Theatre for a night of at the Grand Theatre for a night of inspired silliness.

The touring version of the radio show, the tea time favourite of many a commuter, brought one of the most talented comedy line-ups ever to share the Grand stage, including superbly grumpy chairman Jack Dee in the chair famously long stage, including superbly grumpy chair-man Jack Dee in the chair famously long occupied by the late Humphrey Lyttel-ton, with comedian and crooner Jeremy Hardy, veteran comedy writer Barry Cryer (now available in colour) and former Goodies Tim Brooke-Taylor and Clue's originator Graeme Garden. ISIHAC is all about witty wordplay with a healthy dose of smut, usually regard-ing the sadly ever absent scorekeeper the lovely Samantha. The dedicated fans among the full house audience roared their approval for house audience roared their approval for such rounds as the baffling game Morn-ington Crescent (now aided by sat-nav), ington Crescent (now aided by sat-nav), Censored Songs in which a buzzer can make the most innocent song sound filthy, Karaoke-Cokey in which the panel try to identify songs played by the audi-ence on kazoo, and Uxbridge English Dictionary finding new meanings for old words... my favourite being Graeme Garden's 'Cannibalistic', a Geordie rocket.

The evening ended as audience and panel joined together on swanee whistles and kazoos for a poignant version of We'll Meet Again. "Like a party in a care home", added Jack.

THANK goodness
Alison Goldfrapp is around to keep the glitter and glam in pop music and, glam in pop music and, remember, before Gaga there was Goldfrapp. Entering the stage from an inflated tunnel through a sea of dry ice to the breathy panting of Voice Thing, she shimmered and sparkled in a feathery black and silver poncho. Her outfit fizzed about her as she faced down a gale from the wind machine, which sent her gold curls twisting like Medusa's locke, It was an inspired, otherworldly look utterly in keeping with her glitzy blend of disco and glam rock.

Her partner in Goldfrapp Will Gregory doesn't do live but she was superbly sup-ported by her space-age pyjama-clad band, including keyboards slung like a guitar keyboards slung like a guitar and electric violing. The set leaned heavily upon new album Head First, which hasn't quite been the expected success but it was apparent fans are starting to embrace songs like the Fleetwood Mac-ish Dreaming and the perky Believer. That built up to a crowd-pleasing big stomping climax with Ride A White Horse, Train and an ecstatic Ooh La La.

Leon Burakowski

Lee Mack, Going Out, Symphony Hall, Birmingham

A SELECTION of the audience may have felt the brunt of some of Lee Mack's material, but I'm sure like the rest us they would have gone home much happier for the experience. On day 107 of nationwide tour, the cheeky Northern funnyman was on top form throughout a show that seemed to last longer than its hour-and-a-half duration. The set began with Mack locking an audience member in a box on stage. "I just didn't like the look of him," he joked. It ended with questions and answer session Cockney hyming slang, drinking -"I joined my local wine club. We meet in the park every morning at 9" and the French -"I don't trust them, they put C in the hot tag' were among the topics covered, as well as advertising hard sell, Michael Jackson and sign language. Needless to say, he also took a poke at the Brummie accent.

West Country comic Noel Britten had provided the warm-up

Guests who get drunk, fall asleep or raid kitchen

Come Dine With Me:
The Tasty Bits (15)
The dinner party show has become cult viewing for many and however outrageous the behaviour of the guests - whether members of the public or celebs - the real star of the show is the droll commentary by narrator Dave Lamb.
This DVD features around half an hour of never-before-seen scenes (a little purity) but they are not that shocking the of never-before-seen scenes (a little nudity) but they are not that shocking, the makers kept the best bits in.

So we get guests getting drunk and falling asleep at the table or tumbling off their chairs, a host of culinary crimes, and guests so hungry they raid the kitchen to make their own dinner.

As regards the celebrities, Kim Wood-burn, of How Clean Is Your House, gets burn, or now recent is four nouse, gets spectacularly drunk on vodka, actress Lesley Joseph gets fits of giggles when her lamb dinner is a disaster and Michael Barrymore's anarchic buffoonery crosses the line into outright vandalism

Collapse (Exempt)
This thought-provoking documentary puts you in the company of American radical thinker Michael Ruppert for more

Sat 8am - 3pm

Former LA policeman Ruppert reckons our society's dependence on oil will bring ruin upon us all within a decade or so, and that the economic depression which he seems to have predicted - is just the beginning.

If you believe Ruppert, you had best learn to be a carpenter and farmer fast, because the lights are going to go out, money will be worthless and food is going to become scarce.

It's a talking head documentary, with some stock footage, in which Ruppert is sittin in what appears to be a bunker, chain-smoking and sometimes doing his chain-smoking and sometimes doing his credibility no good by bursting into tears or barely restraining his four-letter rage at the powers that rule the world. He also darkly hints about mysterious deaths in the US military and a break-in at his office in which his computers were trashed.

Rupper seems to take a perverse pride in his belief that he had been personally targeted by the White House during George W Bush's presidency.
He may have fascinated film maker
Chris Smith with his apocalyptic vision

Joan Rivers - showing her tender side but I remained unconvinced by Ruppert's alarming predictions. However,his ideas are certainly interesting... and worrying.

Joan Rivers: A Piece of Work

[Exempt]

Joan Rivers: A Piece of Work

[Exempt]

This documentary of a year in the life of veteran queen of comedy Joan Rivers starts with the comedienne close-up without her facade of make-up.

It makes the film's intention clear, to show the real Joan. And it probably does. The expletive-using septuagenarian is revealed as a workaholic, driven by the fear of failure and haunted by the sense that comedy is second best to her true love, acting.

She is also wickedly funny on stage and brutal in her dealing with a heckler. There are two very poignant scenes where we (apparently) see the real woman behind the faceliffs and carefully coffured hair, in a tender moment with her grandson and when the tough cookie sobs after sacking a member of her team, an old friend, who let her down once too often. She still sacked him though.

There are lots of extras on the DVD including interviews.

Soulful Duffy blends modern with retro in her

Duffy - Endlessly Snowdonia's soul stunner Duffy returns with a second album that has an American sheen but finds her distinctive sheen but finds her distinctive soulful croak preserved. Her new team includes New York hip hop funkers The Roots and veteran American songwriter Albert Hammond (who penned Hollies hit The Air That I Breathe). The result is an album that lives up to her massive hit debut Rockferry, blending retro elements with modern R&B/pop production techniques. The ballads Don't Forsake Me and Too Hurt To Dance will appeal to those who enjoy Duffy when she's at her most old fashioned and Girl finds the Welsh songstress in groovy Sandie Shaw-ish 60s mode. The semi-acoustic title track introduces a slurred bluesy edge to her vocal, whereas Love Struck her massive hit debut Rockferry, and Well Well Well have a more contemporary pop feel. Out November 29.

vocalist in Girls Aloud, Nadine
Coyle has made a bad false start

Coyle has made a bad false start to her solo career with this weedy, bland debut album which doesn't make the most of her voice. Even the best tracks probably wouldn't have made it onto Cheryl Cole's album. Everything seems wrong, from the half-hearted warbling to odd moments, like when she seems to go missing half way through first track, the wanna-be club anthem Runnin'. Maybe she made a mistake by writing her own songs, maybe with the production team, though they include some people with big include some people with big successes to their credit. But Insatiable should have been dumped and Nadine directed back to the drawing board. This is one turkey that will still be left in the shops at Christmas

by Leon Burakowski

Selena Gomez & The Scene - A Year Without Rain The Disney princess follows her million-selling debut Kiss And Tell with a better set of perky And Tell with a better set of perky pop/rock tracks and upbeat dance numbers. Featuring the hit Round And Round, it is slickly produced for the star from Disney Channel's The Wizards of Waverley Place. The teenager is set to become one of the faces of 2011 with the release of the films Monte Carlo and Ramona & Beezus. Her album has that mass produced feel but professionally delivers and her voice is pitched somewhere between Britney and Kylie.

Duffy's follow-up album Endlessly blends thenew with the old terrace house is now available at number 80 Enville Road in Wall Heath.

Located approximately half a mile from Wall Heath village, on the edge of green belt countryside, the well-proportioned accommodation includes gas central heating and provides an opportunity to purchase an affordable family home in a popular residential area.

Offers of $169,950 are being invited by the agent Wakeman.

Access is through a recessed porch with spacious entrance hall and staircase to the first floor. There is also a door to a built-in euphoard central heating radiator and door to a lounge at the front of the house measuring 15t3 in x 11t 9in.

Features in this room include a bay window, fireplace with marble hearth and gas fire. There are also four wall light points, double central heating radiator and cable TV point.

At the rear of the house is a dining room which measures 12tf 6 in x 11tf 8 in and from the lobby a door leads to a refitted kitchen, also at the rear. Having recently been extended, the kitchen measures 14ft x 9ft and incorporates a range of wall and base units, worksurfaces with part tiling, an inset single drainer sink with mixer taps, built-in gas oven and inset gas hob with filter hood. Also, concealed under the units are lighting strips and there's an integrated dish washer, plumbing for a washing machine, half double-glazed uPVC door to the garden with an adjoining window and sliding door to a separate WC.

New interior trim and features for Bentley's most successful four-door Grand Tourer ever

Update for the upmarket Spur

Right: There's luxury leather and wood inside the updated Flying Spur

The Continental Flying Spur and its sporting sta blemate the 200mph Flying Spur Speed are the successful four-door Grand Tourers in Bentley's history and among the best-selling ultra-luxury saloons in the world.

Since its launch, the Flying Spur has achieved outstanding sales success across the globe in traditional markets like the USA, the Middle East and UK, as well as emerging luxury markets such as China and Russia.

luxury markets such as China and Russia.

The Flying Spur has attracted a new generation of luxury car buyers to the Bentley marque and has played a pivotal role in the company's revitalisation.

The model's blend of craftsmanship, dynamic performance, style and practicality appeals in equal measure to those who demand an exciting driving experience and those seeking refinement and comfort.

Now the luxurious style of the Flying Spur is even more compelling with the introduction of a range of dramatic 'Series 51' designs, first seen on the Continental GT and GTC.

Customers of both the Flying Spur and Flying Spur Speed models may now select from a range of 14 Series 51 designs, as recommended by Bentley's colour and trim experts.

In addition, all Continental Flying Spur and Supersports models are now specified as standard with a state-of-the-art, 30GB touchscreen infotainment system, seamlessly integrated into their handcrafted cabins.

Continental Flying Spur Series 51

Series 51 represents Bentley design at its most vibrant. It allows customers of both Continental Flying Spur and Flying Spur Speed to order 'off the peg' from an innovative and exclusive range of recommended combinations created by Bentley's colour and trim designers at the and trim designers at company's headquarters Crewe.

company's headquarters in Crewe.

Dirk van Braeckel, Bentley's director of design, said: "The Series 51 design concept is inspired by the spirit of the inaugural Bentley styling department in Crewe established by the gifted John Blatchley, who shaped the original and iconic 1950s Bentley Continentals.

"Today, it provides for a virtually bespoke ordering service due to the thousands of configurations available through Bentley's expansive colour and trim catalogue."

tons available through Bentley's expansive colour and trim catalogue."

Melinda June-Jenkins, manager of colour and trim, explained. "Each Series 51 Flying Spur is instantly recognisable most notably in the cabin area where the colour and trim team has created a wide selection of three-tone interiors demonstrating the full potential of the company's vast colour palette.

"One of the most exciting aspects of the Series 51 designs is the feedback from Bentley customers and their desire to explore further what we can offer. Series 51 provides just a starting point and now we are creating designs which make an even stronger and more personal statement."

For Series 51 designs, the Bentley styling team operates on a 'rule of three' principle to create complex but harmonising colour schemes of depth and beauty, inspired by a customer's simple choice of three contrasting colours.

With luxurious wood veneers and leather hides as the main canvas, the colour and trim specialists begin with a main interior colour (typically a darker shade) cialists begin with a main interior colour (typically a darker shade) and then select a second insert colour to provide an eye-catching contrast. A critical skill is identifying the third 'accent' colour for the stitching and piping.

The selection of wood veneers or aluminium panels for the dashboard either complements the overall look or provides even greater contrast if the customer so desires.

Bentley has reserved the limited-edition Sapelli Pomelle veneer (which provides a rare, naturally occurring quitted effect in the wood) for the Series 51 Flying Spur and a range of further options, including Bentley's leather trimmed child seat and scatter cushions for the rear seats, may also be specified to further complement the exclusive design.

Advanced infotainment

All 2012 model year Bentley Continental Flying Spur and Supersports coupe and convertible models are now equipped with touchscreen infotainment system. An eight-inch screen displays the car's audio system, telephone, ride and comfort settings as well as the very latest navigation system, which uses both an in-car hard-disc drive and DVD player to access route data.

Wolves' goals come too late to save the day

BEING late usually carrie some form of penalty. And, admirable as Wolves' come-back was on Saturday, they knew there was a price to Rnew there was a price to pay.

Thankfully for them, it wasn't hitting the bottom of the Premier League table.

They were spared that psychological blow by one goal – that's all. Wolves are better off than West Ham as the minutest goal difference kept them off the basement.

But two late goals against a superior Bolton side wasn't enough to mask the frustration of a chance lost to make up ground. Or the failure to gain some reward for those impressive displays against the Premier League's elite.

Players and the manager keep saying it will come, that performances will be rewarded by results.

But after witnessing events on Saturday, it feels like waiting in the rain for a broken down bus that's not going to come as the seven-match spell designated as the starting rain for a broken down bus that's not going to come as the seven-match spell designated as the starting point for Wolves' revival spluttered. And it wasn't even as if they could rely on Albion to give them a favour as the Baggies' third defeat in four at Wigan left Mick McCarthy's side four points from safety. As they surveyed the Premier League table over their Sunday papers, they were left to reflect on the errors stopping them flourishing before they even get into their stride. It was late goals that were costing them—now they're leaking them barely before fans have taken their seats.

Last Wednesday it was Marouane Chamakh after 37 seconds This Chamakh after 37 seconds. This time it was Richard Stearman after

That gave them a mountain to climb. It was a mountain they never conquered, mainly through tripping over themselves.

Edginess

Stearman has shown signs of maturity since replacing Jody Craddock. But he appeared to get all his angles wrong as he headed past Marcus Hahnemann for the opener which rocked Wolves on their heels. Under pressure from Matthew Taylor, the former Leicester man looked to be square on instead of side on as he tried to defend Chung-Yong Lee's header back into the danger area after Steven Mouyokolo headed the winger's initial cross away. Whether it was because of the disrupted defence — Christophe Berra Mouyokolo his Premier League debut for the club – is unclear. But it didn't help and the edginess about the centre of Wolves' defence was the last thing they needed against a forward line that went on against a forward line that went on to show no little finesse.

The difficulties Wolves had in establishing themselves in this game weren't confined to their defence as the midfield gave the ball away far too often.

In truth they were given a lesson at times by Stuart Holden, who not only harried them out of their stride but was a threat when Bolton were in nossession.

only narried them due of their stride but was a threat when Bolton were in possession.

The American went on to hammer what appeared to be the final nail in Wolves' coffin when he sidefooted home to make it 3-0 in the 67th minute after Chung-Yong Lee and Kevin Davies combined to carve open the home defence.

By then, Stearman and an outstanding goal from Johan Elmander just after the hour mark left Wolves on the ropes as boss Mick McCarthy's plan to get at the visitors more by switching to 4-4-2 was rendered almost as useless as Audley Harrison's defence in the third round on Saturday night.

In fact, it seemed as if Wolves used their hands almost as much as Harrison's conqueror David Haye.

Sylvan Ebanks-Blake was twice penalised for handball in the first

By then, just after the half hour, Wolves' efforts to get back into the game were in full flow.

Wasted

Wasted

Shortly after, Nenad Milijas forced two saves from Jussi from distance before Wolves' best player Matt Jarvis, who was watched by England boss Fabio Capello for the fifth time this season, wasted the best chance of the first half when he fired straight at the Bolton keeper after Milijas' superb ball inside Sam Ricketts sent him racing clear.

That miss probably didn't cost him a place in Capello's squad to face France on Wednesday. But he did everything in his power to make sure he made a favourable impression in a sizzling second half.

After Milijas signalled Wolves' intentions at the start by skimming the bar with a chip, Jarvis provided the assists for both goals that at least made a game of it when all appeared lost.

It was just a pity that the moments of quality were restricted least made a gamma-appeared lost.

It was just a pity that the moments of quality were restricted to Kevin Foley's sublime chip on 69 and substitute Steven Fletcher's stooping header eight minutes later.

At 3-2, the comeback should have been strik zemith.

At 3-2, the comenact should have been at its zenith.

But instead all Wolves could muster was a glaring miss from Mouyokolo, who glanced wide from point-blank range.

It was too little, too late.

Disappointment, not a calamity as Albion lose again

GOOD news was in short supply today for Roberto Di Matteo.

His jaded-looking team were His jaded-looking team were beaten on Saturday by a teenager he wanted to buy, most of their close rivals collected points and several of his key players woke this morning in players woke this morning in remote corners of the world for international friendlies.

Oh, and Albion's ultimate bogey side are due in town on Saturday fresh from a rousing victory over Liverpool.

Crumbs of comfort were thin on the ground for the Baggies after their worst weekend so far back in the Premier League.

Thankfully, Di Matteo is an unflappable character who will retain a level head.

And his team's supporters would do well to take a leaf from the Italian's book.

So impressive was the Baggies'

Italian's book.

So impressive was the Baggies' flying start to their latest top-flight challenge, it was easy for fans to forget just how tough the Premier League can be.

They do not have to think back too

They do not have to think back too far, however, for a reminder.
Two seasons ago they reached the equivalent stage of Tony Mowbray's Premier League campaign five points worse off than they find themselves now, bottom of the table with three 3-0 defeats and a 4-0 hammer-ing at Manchester United already on their record.

They had not beaten Arsenal, or drawn at Manchester United. They drawn at Manchester United. They had won just twice at home. At this juncture in 2005-06 they were five points short of their current target, too, while in the Great Escape' season they were seven points adrift.

Tempted

All these statistics are proof, if it were needed, that while Saturday in Wigan was disappointing, it was hardly the calamity that certain sections of the kneejerk internet message board and radio phone-in 'chatterati' were tempted to believe. It's unlikely that super-cool Italian Di Matteo does impersonations.

Italian Di Matteo does impersonations.

But if he did he might have been tempted to dust off his best Michael Winner on Saturday even to implore the nervous elements of the Baggies fanbase to 'calm down'.

In fairness, the impressive traveling army of more than 3,000 Albion followers were a good deal more appreciative as they applauded their team from the field despite a frustrating defeat and a desperately disappointing game.

As a spectacle, this game was fortunate to make it onto Match of the Day before the closing credits.

A cagey approach from both sides meant they landed roughly as many blows as found the target in the

Albion's Chris Brunt battles with Steve Gohouri

Albion's Chris Brunt bat heavyweight 'contest' some 20 miles away in Manchester.

Yet Albion were 20 minutes and one moment of improved concentration away from collecting a solid point that would have sent Di Mattee into international week with a satisfied smile.

Such are the fine margins which dictate Premier League results and change moods and which, in truth, have favoured Albion at crucial moments earlier this season.

The biggest frustration for Di Matteo and his staff came from the fact his team shot themselves in the foot with a piece if disorganisation after getting so much right defensively as their attacking players failed to fire over 90 minutes for the first time this season.

The Latics winner arrived from an Albion free-kick 20 minutes from full-time.

Just 15 seconds elapsed between Chris Brunt delivering a free-kick from just outside the Wigan area and Victor Moses beating Scott Carson with a clinical low shot at the other end.

In that time Hendry Thomas

Carson with a clinical low shot at the other end.

In that time Hendry Thomas cleared his lines, Nicky Shorey and James Morrison failed to get to grips with Charles N'Zogbia, the Frenchman recovered from a stumble and fed Moses, who did the rest.

And, on a day when neither side gave an inch, that one Baggies slip-up was all it took to settle things. The first-half had delivered a com-plete lack of drama and a dearth of quality in crucial positions.

Peter Odemwingie's pace caused Wigan occasional problems and, when he rounded Ronnie Stam on 26 minutes, he could have done more than pull the ball back into a vacant penalty area.

And Antolin Alcaraz went closest for the hosts, heading over the bar from N'Zogbia's corner.

Surge

A third defeat in four matches made it a frustrating weekend for Di Matteo, results elsewhere aggravated the problems and the sight of Stoke looming on the horizon would hardly have helped his mood.

A testing week lies ahead for the Italian. But Baggies fans can be certain he won't be panicking.

Stourbridge let lead slip as 10-game run is brought to a finish

Bedford 2 Stourbridge 1 STOURBRIDGE saw their 10-game unbeaten run come to an end as they fell to defeat at a rejuvenated Bedford Town.

rejuvenated Bedford 10wn.
The match itself could have gone either way but a deflected 79th-minute effort from Callum Lewis settled the outcome in favour of the hosts.
Bedford went close after five minutes as Jamie Cole found Josh Sozzo and he squared the ball across from the left for Phil Draycott to hit a shot wide of the prepared.

from the left for Phil Draycott to hit a shot wide of the near post.

The Glassboys struck first with nine minutes played when a poor throw-out from stand-in home keeper Michael Kavanagh led to Aaron Drake winning possession on the right. He thumped the ball goalwards but his apparent shot turned into a cross as the ball dropped onto the head of Ryan Rowe at the far post and the striker made no mistake.

But the visitors joy proved short-lived as Bedford levelled matters within a minute.

Ian Draycott turned inside the box and hit a low shot inside Lewis Solly's left-hand post to restore parity.

Crossbar

Crossbar

Five minutes later Solly safely held a drive from Craig Daniel while at the other end Drew Canavan went close with a 20-yard effort.

Some good link-up play from the hosts on 17 minutes saw Graham Clark feed Draycott who laid the ball back into the path of Cole and his shot whistled inches over the crossbar.

Bedford almost grabbed the lead after 39 minutes when Daniel threaded a neat through pass looking for the run of Sozzo who reached the ball fractionally ahead of Solly to turn the ball goalwards, however Drake got back to clear off the line.

Stourbridge then responded with a left-foot shot from Ben Billingham forcing Kavanagh into a tipower save.

The Glassboys improved after the break and enjoyed a good spell early in the secondhalf. On 51 minutes Canavan cut out a pass from Clark and, after exchanging passes with Rowe, he struck a low shot from just outside the box past the far post.

Stinging

Five minutes later a searching through ball from Drake enabled Linden Dovey to steal in ahead of the advancing Kavanagh before shooting goalwards from the left-hand edge of the box but Eddie Lawley was able to the clear the ball off the line.

On 67 minutes Callum Lewis and Ian Draycott combined to set up Phil Draycott on the left-hand side of the area and his stinging shot drew a good save from Solly.

The decisive moment of the afternoon came with minutes left as Lewis quickly took a free-kick on

Kidderminster Carolians 3
KIDDERMINSTER Carolians are still looking for their first away point this season after a heavy defeat.

A severely under-strength pack was no match for the powerful Bedworth forwards and, with no base to build on, KCs struggled from the off, writes Martin Easton.

Ominously, they lost the first scrum of the match on their own put in and the home side took an early lead when their No 10 slotted over a simple penalty.

The hosts re-took the lead with another penalty, this time for offside.

Yet another penalty offence saw Bedworth kick to touch and then drive over from a lineout 10 metres out.

From there the scoring was all one-way although Kidderminster did have their moments in attack without ever being able to convert them.
